The impact of your support
Kellogg is Oxford’s most international and diverse graduate community. We believe in a sustainable world in which learning continues throughout life, enabling society to make the most of people’s talents, adapt to change, and advance humankind through learning and discovery. Your regular gift to the 1990 Club ensures we continue to provide a distinctive and enriching Oxford experience for our students.

People’s wellbeing and providing the best possible Oxford experience is at the heart of everything we do. Our supportive approach enables individuals to make the most of their talents, inspiring the personal discovery, growth, and confidence needed to flourish. This year, your support has enhanced our existing welfare and wellbeing provisions - essential tools for the self-development of our students. I do hope you will enjoy reading about the various ways in which your gift has transformed lives.

Regular gifts are vital in providing sustainable funding – enabling us to plan ahead. Every gift is appreciated and every gift makes a difference. I would like to thank you for celebrating your connection with Kellogg and supporting the College and its students.

Professor Jonathan Michie
President
Kellogg College
The College is proud of its community’s achievements. Our members are a driving force behind much of the world-leading research conducted at the University of Oxford, as well as leaders in their respective fields, making significant contributions to societies and economies around the globe.

By enabling access to hardship, research, and travel grants, and by supporting our students’ sporting achievements, your regular gift ensures our students can focus on future success.

Since the launch of the 1990 Club in September 2020, regular giving has increased by 69%. We are thankful for your continued support, and hope you will encourage others to join the 1990 Club.

Your impact

I returned to further education as an Oxford undergrad in my mid-20s — this was life-changing for me. Now, as a member of Kellogg and an MSt tutor, I donate regularly through the 1990 Club to support similar life-changing Oxford experiences for students at Kellogg.

Melanie Golob (DPhil Evidence-Based Healthcare) used her Travel Grant to cover the cost of presenting her research, ‘Toward a living model for health technology assessments’ at the 2022 EBMLive conference, in Oxford.

Mhairi Reid (DPhil Environmental Research) was awarded both a Travel and a Research Grant enabling her to conduct her research into early bird evolution in the USA, and to present at the Society of Vertebrate Palaeontology (SVP) annual meeting in Toronto.

Thanks to a Travel Grant, Tonny Kukeera (DPhil Geography and the Environment) was able to present his research on sustainability and innovation in the energy sector at The Business and Society Conference 2022 in Nantes, France.

A Travel Grant supported Elizabeth Thomas’ (DPhil Primary Healthcare) attendance at the Preventing Overdiagnosis Conference (PODC) in Calgary, where she presented her research on the overuse and underuse of medical tests in children.
Our students

Studying at Oxford University is a huge undertaking; many of our students have overcome extraordinary hurdles in order to access an Oxford Education — being offered a place is a major achievement.

Your contribution is enabling us to put in place strong provisions for student support, and to give them every chance to succeed during their time at Oxford, and beyond.

Kellogg Hardship Fund

We recognise that students may encounter financial difficulties or unforeseen circumstances beyond their control, during their time at Kellogg. The College’s Hardship Fund provides both our full- and part-time students some extra support to help them through these difficult times.

Health, wellbeing and disability support

We want students to get the most out of their time studying at Oxford but, from time to time, they may need extra support — whether for health, disability or personal reasons. From a dedicated Disability Co-ordinator, student Peer Supporters and Junior Deans, to weekly yoga sessions and MCR welfare tea and cake drop-ins, we offer our students a wide range of support.

Travel Grant Award

DPhil and MPhil students are eligible to apply for a Kellogg College Travel Grant to help meet travel and attendance costs when presenting their work at conferences, or to help meet the travel expenses of research trips. In 2021–22, 29 students received the award, enabling them to conduct and present cutting edge research around the world.

Health, wellbeing and disability support

Without funding for the court hire and ball supply, we would not have been able to hold matches regularly for the Kellogg Tennis Team.

Members enjoy both the physical challenge of the sport as well as the sense of community which is fostered from getting together every week.

Hong-Po Hsieh, Captain of the Kellogg College Tennis Team, DPhil Engineering Science, 2019

Sports Fund

Taking part in any form of physical activity or recreational pursuit not only improves fitness but also enhances general wellbeing. The College Sports Fund enables students to pursue their favourite sports, both at College level at Cuppers, and Varsity level as a ‘Blue’. As well as on a fun social level on site, and in our College accommodation gardens.

I was able to attend the European Initiative for Security Studies (EISS) 2022 conference at the Hertie School of Governance in Berlin, thanks to my travel award from College... It was thrilling to deliver my presentation, [and] to chat with fellow panellists... I am thoroughly grateful to Kellogg for enabling this excellent experience.
